

Disclaimer

1. This Website may contain copyright and proprietary information notices; please take note of these notices and comply with them.
2. Nature*4*Science's intention is to present only the most accurate information on this Website, but be advised that we make no representation that all information in this site is always the latest available. The user is responsible for verifying the accuracy of any information on which he or she intends to rely on.
3. The descriptions of products and services displayed on this Website, and the terms under which they are offered, may change at any time without notice.
4. A description of a product or service on this Web site does not indicate the existence of any kind of implied warranty. Please direct inquiries on this subject to the appropriate N4S sales or management staff.
5. Although we try to review this site carefully for typographical errors, please be aware that there may be such errors in this site; we advise that you verify information in which you intend to place any sort of reliance before acting upon it.
6. This Website may have links to "external" (non-N4S) sites. These sites were not created by Nature*4*Science and N4S is not responsible for their content, nor should the existence of a link imply any form of endorsement by us of the site, its content, or the party sponsoring it. The link is for the convenience of the visitors to our site only.
7. Nature*4*Science declares that the medicinal information stated for the garlic products , and other products as well have not been reviewed by the FDA. The products are not intended to cure, treat and/or prevent disease.